

A map of the North Sea region, including parts of Norway, Sweden, Finland, and Denmark. The map shows the coastline and major water bodies. Sampling stations are marked with 'x' and 'o' symbols. The 'x' symbols are located in the northern part of the North Sea, while the 'o' symbols are located in the southern part, near the coast of Denmark and Sweden. The map is color-coded with a gradient from light blue to dark blue, representing different depths or water masses.
